On April 26, 1655, the Jews of New Amsterdam received formal permission to remain in the New World, marking the beginnings of Shearith Israel and of Jewish Life in the United States.
When did the liberty bell receive its famous crack? The answer appears to be Monday, February 23rd, 1846, when it was rung in honor of Washington's birthday. On February 26, 1846 one Philadelphia paper reported, “The old Independence Bell rang its last clear note on Monday last in honor of the birthday of Washington and now hangs in the great city steeple irreparably cracked and dumb.... It gave out clear notes and loud, and appeared to be in excellent condition until noon, when it received a sort of compound fracture in a zig-zag direction through one of its sides which put it completely out of tune and left it a mere wreck of what it was.”

The Liberty Bell has thus not been heard since 1846; or so it would seem. In fact, however, the website of Independence National Park informs us that “there have been several occasions in which the Liberty Bell was struck [with a mallet] and the sound was recorded. One very special occasion was on D-Day, June 6, 1944, when the Liberty Bell was struck by Philadelphia Mayor Bernard Samuel seven times, one time for each of the letters in the word ‘Liberty’ in a nationwide broadcast to announce the allied invasion of Europe on the beaches of Normandy, France.” As we read this story, we realize that there is a deeper meaning to the fact that the Liberty Bell rang on D-Day when those brave soldiers fought. Then the Liberty Bell was not silent; they acted with honor, and it was through their very actions that they let freedom ring.

Reflecting on this story led me to suggest a possible interpretation of the most celebrated stories in Judaism. Standing at Sinai, Moshe read the Torah to the Jewish people, and they responded, in unison, kol asher diber Hashem, naaseh venishma, which literally means “we shall do and we shall hear.” As I understand it, Israel’s response is to be interpreted as follows: all the words that were spoken at Sinai naaseh: we will obey, we will live the life of Judaism, and when we act accordingly, venishma, we shall hear, as through our very actions the sound of Sinai will be heard again.

The voice of God can be heard if we act in loyalty to the Torah, and this too can be seen from D-Day. The night before that great assault, General Mathew Ridgeway opened his bible to the book of Joshua. The tale, now unknown, was made famous by President Reagan when he mentioned it on the fiftieth anniversary of D-Day, in his famous “Pointe du Hoc” speech, using words masterfully composed by Peggy Noonan:
George and Lucienne Bulow on the birth of a granddaughter, Charlotte Ruth Bulow. Charlotte is the daughter of Harris and Heather Bulow.

Rose and Henry Edinger on their granddaughter, Hadassah Edinger’s becoming a Bat Mitzvah. Hadassah is the daughter of Dr. Shlomit and Dr. Benjamin Edinger.

Something else helped the men of D-Day: their rockhard belief that Providence would have a great hand in the events that would unfold here; that God was an ally in this great cause. And so, the night before the invasion, when Colonel Wolverton asked his parachute troops to kneel with him in prayer he told them: Do not bow your heads, but look up so you can see God and ask His blessing in what we’re about to do. Also that night, General Matthew Ridgway on his cot, listening in the darkness for the promise God made to Joshua: “I will not fail thee nor forsake thee.”

Reagan concluded by saying, “Here, in this place where the West held together, let us make a vow to our dead. Let us show them by our actions that we understand what they died for. Let our actions say to them the words for which Matthew Ridgway listened: ‘I will not fail thee nor forsake thee.’”

If we act accordingly, then a Liberty Bell, once rung, can be heard generations later; and in an even more profound way, when we live in loyalty to the Torah, then the voice of God that issues from Sinai can echo into eternity. Understood this way, the tale of na’aseh venishma is not only a story about our ancestors, but about us. It reflects the fact that whether Sinai’s voice continues to ring depends not on our forbearers, but on ourselves. As long as we remain loyal to the principles of that moment, then the sound of Sinai will continue to be heard, but when our own observance ceases; when our na’aseh is nowhere to be found, then our venishma is no more, and the sound of of Sinai falls silent.

Ten years ago, it was reported that “as the west celebrated the 60th anniversary of D-Day by American- and British-led forces, the people of Normandy dedicated a near-exact, 2,077-pound replica of the bell made with the same alchemy of copper and tin as the original in 1753.” That bell was then rung on the cliffs of Normandy:

“Do you hear that? That is a very special sound from the 18th century,” said Paul Bergamo, of the Cornille-Havard foundry, which cast the replica bell. “That is the sound Benjamin Franklin heard when he was working on the Constitution of the United States.”

Thus did the sound of the Liberty Bell echo over the cliffs of Pointe du Hoc. So too, every time that we study or obey the Torah, we hear the sound of Sinai once again.

Bequests
The congregation expresses its sincere gratitude to Rachel El-Hasid, of blessed memory for a bequest recently received from her estate.
Please consider including Shearith Israel in your estate planning. To learn how or for more information, please speak with our executive director, Barbara Reiss.

Our bulletin goes to print one month in advance of delivery. Please accept our apologies for any errors or omissions.
Have you spent time in our Small Synagogue lately? If you attend weekday minyanim, then the answer is clearly yes. Similarly, if you are one of our younger congregants who attends Junior Congregation or a PTTS Hebrew School student, then your services are held in the Small Synagogue as well. And if you are a woman who participates in our women’s service, bakafot or Megillah readings, then you’ve prayed there too. Even if you enter but once a year on the occasion of a nahala (yahrzeit), you’ve depended on the sanctity of this space for the solemnity of your commemoration.

When tour groups visit Shearith Israel, while the Large Synagogue, designed by Louis Comfort Tiffany, may garner the most “oohs” and “ahs,” many of our docents linger in the Small Synagogue because that is the space that best tells the story of our congregation. This quaint chapel was designed as a close approximation of our first synagogue building on Mill St. (today’s South William Street) in the financial district. Indeed, many of the furnishings of the Small Synagogue are original pieces from that 1730 building as well as the subsequent buildings such as the 1834 Crosby Street synagogue. It is also the hehal (ark) in the Small Synagogue that holds our revolutionary era Torah scrolls, best known because they were desecrated by British soldiers during the US War of Independence. One other unique use of this cherished space is the signing of “the book.” Each year, following the annual meeting of the electors, after the new electors are voted in, each newly confirmed elector is invited to inscribe his or her name into the Congregation’s original Constitution and Bylaws. The signing of the constitution can be a very moving experience. This formality generally takes place at the Tebah in the Small Synagogue where this historic book is handled with great care and respect. By signing the constitution, and more so, when done in this room, one is connected, in a very physical and direct way, to the long history of our Congregation.

Many of us, however, who have spent time in the Small Synagogue in recent years, have also noticed, to our dismay, the severe and disfiguring damage to the doorway leading to the Elias Room and to the rear window. The deterioration has been worsening for some years now. And so it is wonderful and sweet that the problem has finally been fixed. Heeding our Parnas’ pleas at our 2014 Hatanim Luncheon, the money was raised to restore that beautiful and sacred space. Go see it with your own eyes (and stay for services while you’re there). Both the cosmetic blemishes and the underlying source of the damage have been rectified. This achievement was possible due to the attention and efforts of several individuals including two major donors who financed this important project.

We are delighted that the Small Synagogue has been restored to its dignified state and are encouraged by the knowledge that when we are determined to make our synagogue better, we get it done.

HERRINGFEST!

Co-sponsored by the Consulate General of the Kingdom of the Netherlands
Tuesday, March 8 | 7:00 pm
Rabbi Meir Soloveichik

Herring—one of the most celebrated delicacies among the Dutch, and one of the most beloved fish among the Jews—is central to Shearith Israel’s story. After all, historians have noted that there is one product that allowed The Netherlands to become a shipping power: herring. No herring, no Dutch East Indies Company; and if there was no Dutch East Indies Company, there would have been no Shearith Israel.

In celebration, we at Shearith Israel will be holding a HerringFest! where all participants will be able to sample a dazzling variety of ways in which the herring can be enjoyed. HerringFest! will take place during Adar, the joyous month associated by our sages with the constellation of “dagim,” or fish. Featuring a short shiur by Rabbi Soloveichik, HerringFest! is sure to be an unforgettable culinary experience of Shearith Israel’s Dutch and Jewish heritage.

SHEARITH ISRAEL’S CEMETERIES FROM 1682 TO TODAY
A Three-Part Experiential Cemetery Series

OBSERVE
Sunday, May 22
Chatham Square Cemetery 44 St. James Place

Each year, a week before Memorial Day, Shearith Israel holds a ceremony at our historic Chatham Square Cemetery which dates back to 1683. This cemetery is the resting place of the earliest generations of our Congregation—the people who laid the foundations for Jewish life in North America. Among those buried in this cemetery are eighteen congregants who fought in the American Revolution. Adults and children alike, some who come year after year, are moved by this solemn event which includes prayers chanted by our clergy, the placement of US flags by the graves of those who served in the Revolutionary War, and a dignified color guard ceremony. For more information, see page 13.

DO GOOD
Sunday in Early Fall, 2016, before High Holidays
Beth Olam cemetery

In recent years, during the month of Elul, The Hebra Hased Va’Amet has sponsored a communal visit to Beth Olam cemetery for those wishing to visit our cemetery. This opportunity for a traditional cemetery visit is accompanied by a guided tour of the grounds by our Sexton, Z Edinger, who will draw our attention to several important historical figures including Emma Lazarus, Benjamin Cardozo and the first Jewish naval commodore, Uriah Philips Levy as well as many of our ministers and hazzanim who are buried here such as Jacques Judah Lyons, Henry Pereira Mendes, David de Sola Pool, Louis C. Gerstein, and, Abraham Lopes Cardozo of blessed memory.

This year we, with the support of Caring Connection and the Hebra, invite adults and children to join us at the cemetery for an important hesed activity focused on some much needed clean-up of the grounds.

Free transportation from the Synagogue will be provided.
In a speech soon after she became the Chief Judge of New York’s Court of Appeals, Judge Kaye described how she had recently received a letter from a prison inmate. The letter began with a striking salutation: “Dear Mother of Justice.” Judge Kaye loved that invented honorific; and she added that while no one had yet addressed her that way in court; when and if somebody did, “I will look kindly on that.” It is this phrase, “mother of justice,” that has inspired my own brief reflection on Judge Kaye’s life and legacy.

When I first became the rabbi and minister of Judge Kaye’s congregation, I knew of her as the woman who had for so many years been the face of New York’s judicial system, an “only in America” saga of achievement: a Jewish girl from Monticello, New York, a child of immigrants, who went on to become one of the most respected legal figures in the land. That particular Sabbath was known to Jews all over the world as Shabbat Shirah, the Sabbath of Song, a name so appropriate because the Bat Mizvah’s name, Shirin, is derived from the word for song, and also because Judge Kaye loved music. Indeed, it was in part the unique musical traditions of our synagogue that drew her and her husband Stephen into our community.

I realize now, however, that that Sabbath was especially fitting for another reason as well. The haftara that day was a portion from the book of Judges, a chapter known as Shirat Deborah, the song of Deborah. Deborah was renowned as the one judge in the book of Judges, in the entire bible, who was a woman. “U-Deborah, shahab nevoh, ki Shofsh et Yisrael be-et habi: Deborah, a prophet, judged Israel in those days.” Yet there is another description of this great woman. In her own exultant song, Deborah describes the arc of her life by adding ad shekamti be-Yisrael, a mother in Israel. This is a very different description of herself. We are, then, presented with two distinct appellations: a “judge of Israel,” and “a mother in Israel.” A judge is first and foremost about law; a mother is first and foremost about love.

These two—law and love—came together in Judge Kaye, who loved the name “mother of justice.” Judge Kaye focused a great deal on justice, not only in her judicial decisions but also in striving to make our state’s justice system run in a way that was more respected, because a people’s respect for the justice system is essential to a democracy. At the same time, for us in the synagogue, and for so many others blessed by her friendship, she was wife, mother, beloved fellow congregant and friend. And her warmth was celebrated by her colleagues as well, so that Indiana’s Supreme Court Chief Justice once hailed her as “a chief among chiefs,” someone who brought people together, who among her peers was not only respected but loved.

In a tribute she once composed to Justice Cardozo, Judge Kaye argued that the most enlightening description of Cardozo’s years as Chief Judge on the Court of Appeals is also the most touching: it is the words of farewell that his colleague, Judge Cuthbert W. Pound, spoke on March 3, 1932, when Cardozo left Albany for Washington and for the United States Supreme Court. Reading Judge Pound’s speech, Judge Kaye noted, we feel as if the emotion leaps off the page. Part of Pound’s address ran as follows: “The bar knows with what earnestness of consideration, firmness of grasp, and force and grace of utterance you have made your power felt; with what evenness, courtesy and calmness you have presided over the sessions of the court. Only your associates can know the tender relations which have existed among us…we shall miss not only the great chief judge whose wisdom and understanding have added glory to the judicial office but also the true man who has blessed us with the light of his friendship…”

And so we too bid farewell to a beloved Chief Judge, and we mourn and we miss not only, to paraphrase Judge Pound, a beloved Chief Judge, but also the woman who has blessed us with the light of her love and her friendship. In my sermon one year ago on the “Sabbath of Song,” I noted that law lies at the center of Judaism, and law is all about words: reading, writing, interpreting. At the same time, I suggested then, the music of faith is significant, and forms a large part of our synagogue’s heritage. Rabbi Jonathan Sacks put it this way: “There is an inner connection between music and the spirit. When language aspires to the transcendental, and the soul longs to break free of the gravitational pull of the earth, it modulates into song. Words are the language of the mind. Music is the language of the soul.”

We today remember Judge Kaye’s mind and her soul, we remember the law and we remember the love. If Deborah was called a “judge in Israel” and “a mother in Israel,” Judith Kaye was for us a “judge in Shearith Israel” and “a mother in Shearith Israel.” This coming Sabbath will be in one sense a Sabbath of sadness, with Judge Kaye’s children in the midst of mourning for their mother. But it will also I think, be a Sabbath of song: a Sabbath of gratitude for the music that was Judge Kaye’s life. Tehei nishmata tzerura bi-tzror ha-hayyim: May Judge Kaye’s soul be bound up in the bonds of eternal life, and may she achieve immortality in the hearts of all those touched by the light of her life here on earth.
Operation Moses and Operation Solomon were two massive and miraculous emigrations of Ethiopian Jews to Israel in our time. Learn more about the adaptation and achievements of this last remnant of the Jewish people with a photography exhibit courtesy of Beit Hatfutsot and through this traditional Ethiopian meal, as the generations of Ethiopian Jews celebrate and share stories of their own personal miracles as productive citizens of the Jewish state. Dinner is followed by lectures and Q & A with our speakers, former MK Deputy Speaker Phina Tamano-Shata and Professor Ephraim Isaac.

In 2007 Phina completed her law studies at Ono Academic College, where she was also the deputy chairman of the Ethiopian Student Union. After graduation she became a political correspondent for Israel’s Channel One. She then joined the Yesh Atid party in 2013 advocating for social equality and affordable housing and soon became a Knesset member. She still works with the prime minister as an advocate and public representative in the special ministerial committee on Ethiopian issues.

SECOND TEMPLE JEWISH HISTORY
Mondays | 7:00 pm | Rabbi Richard Hidary
Using primary sources, we will reconstruct the history of the Jews during the Second Temple, a period that witnessed the development of many aspects of Judaism as we know it today, such as the holidays of Purim and Hanukkah, the fast days, the canonization of Tanakh, and set the stage for the rise of Christianity and the Rabbis. But this period is also interesting for the variety of forms of Judaism and groups of Jews that did not gain hegemony: Samaritans, Hellenists, Pharisees, Essenes, and the Dead Sea sect, among others. Each of these groups had to respond to and find a way to survive revolts and exiles, strong influences from foreign cultures, and internal strife while at the same time remaining committed to monotheism and the Biblical tradition. Why were some of these groups more successful than others? How is this period relevant for understanding our own identities and for evaluating the current state of Judaism and its future prospects?

TALMUD CLASS: TRACTATE ROSH HASHANA AND THE PHILOSOPHY OF JEWISH TIME
Tuesdays | 8:00 pm | Rabbi Meir Soloveichik
Rabbi Samson Raphael Hirsch reported in an essay that he once embarked on a lengthy trip only to discover that his luggage, containing all of his Torah tracts, had been misplaced. He now had nothing to read for his entire journey. Reaching into his pocket, he discovered a luakh, a Jewish calendar. He spent the trip pondering how the way Judaism approaches time actually tells us everything it believes about human nature, our relationship with God, and with each other. These weekly shiurim will engage in a similar endeavor, emerging therefrom with a better understanding of the calendar that has preserved the Jews for millennia, and of the diverse sacred and secular times that create the very rhythm of our lives.

THE MISUNDERSTOOD MASTERPIECE: A NEW APPROACH TO PIRKEI ABOT
Shabbat Day | One Hour Before Minnah
Rabbi Meir Soloveichik

Pirkei Abot is often understood as a series of unrelated ethical adages. In fact, each brief and much-cited maxim in Pirkei Abot actually hints at the extraordinary, and unique, life story and worldview of its rabbinic source. What’s more, the chapters of Abot are joined in a structure that tells the story of the transmission of the Oral Law. We will see how studying the history of the rabbis and figures cited lends an entirely new understanding of these statements, and how Abot represents the diverse response of the rabbis to an age of crisis and transition that was, in many ways, not unlike our own. Sponsorship opportunities are available. To find out more, go to shearithisrael.org/sponsoraclass.

BETH OLAM CEMETERY CLEAN-UP
Sunday in Early Fall, 2016, before High Holidays

This year we, with the support of Caring Connection and the Hebra Hased Va’Emet, invite adults and children to join us at the cemetery for an important hesed activity focused on some much needed clean-up of the grounds.

Free transportation from the Synagogue will be provided. For more information, see page 15.

CARING CONNECTION
Caring Connection, our Congregation’s hesed network, was founded in order to provide organized assistance to members of our community. We respond to a variety of situations, for example, in times of difficulty, illness or mourning, or for the exciting and often overwhelming challenges accompanying the arrival of a new baby. Caring Connection facilitates and trains community members as sensitive volunteers to proactively help others through times of need, one of Judaism’s greatest mitzvot. Not only does this vital assistance greatly aid the individual, it also strengthens and unifies our community and enhances our sense of responsibility for one another. If you know someone who might need assistance, in any form, or if you would like to volunteer, please contact Rabbi Richard Hidary.

MATAONOT L’EBYONIM
It is one of the mitzvot of Purim to give charity to the poor, matanot l’evyonim. Your online gift or check made out to the “Rabbi’s Discretionary Fund,” will be distributed by Rabbi Soloveichik on Purim to those in need. Go to shearithisrael.org/matanot to donate.

MAOT HITTIM
In the opening paragraph of the Haggadah, we read: “All who are hungry, let them come and eat.” As part of experiencing freedom ourselves, we must also ensure that our fellow Jews have the means to celebrate freedom too. Maot Hittim is a special Passover fund, originally intended to provide the poor with matzah. Your online gift or check made out to the “Rabbi’s Discretionary Fund” (indicate “maot hittim” in the memo) will be distributed by Rabbi Soloveichik right before Pesah. Go to shearithisrael.org/maothittim to donate.
In 1628, a group of Dutch settlers held their first worship service in the loft of a mill on the tip of Manhattan. Today, this congregation is known as The Collegiate Church and is the oldest Protestant church in North America. West End Collegiate Church is one of four Collegiate congregations in Manhattan that shares in this history. It is remarkable that twenty-six years later a service was held in that same loft, resulting in the formation of Shearith Israel, the oldest Jewish congregation in North America. Even more remarkable is that these two congregations are now neighbors on the Upper West Side.

When we were contacted by Zachary Edinger and Barbara Reiss about the possibility of joining the Thanksgiving Pack-a-Thon, it was this shared history that motivated us to say “yes.” The idea of cooperating on this project resonated with so many of our members that we quickly had to close registration, lest we have too many people. This is not a problem we often encounter in congregational life!

What we discovered in the experience is that we share much more than history. We learned that your congregation is committed to helping the most vulnerable around us. We experienced an intergenerational emphasis where small children worked next to senior citizens. This made organizing the process a little messier but so much more meaningful. Most importantly, we were able to do more for our community by cooperating with one another.

Our congregations share a rich history in New York City. My hope is that the rekindling of our relationship continues to grow and become an impactful presence on the Upper West Side and beyond.

Rev. Michael S. Bos is Senior Minister of West End Collegiate Church on 77th and West End Ave.

Shabbat Hahodesh derives its name from the special

Shabbat Hahodesh coincides with Rosh Hodesh itself, the “New Moon,” the first day of Nisan.

The Fast of Esther commemorates the day when the Jews of Persia donned sackcloth and ashes, went without food, and prayed that they be spared the massacre planned for them by Haman. Men don tefillin at the 6:45 am service on Wednesday Evening.

Purim commemorates the day when, through the intervention of Mordecai and Queen Esther, the Jews of Persia narrowly escaped being victims of Haman’s evil plot to exterminate them. Instead, “The Jews had light and gladness, joy and honor.”

Purim Shushan, the day following Purim, was the actual day of celebration observed in Shushan, the capital of ancient Persia, and is the day Purim is observed in Jerusalem.

The generosity of our members and friends enables us to continue to honor our past, strengthen our community and pass on our traditions for the next chapter of Jewish and American history. We have many opportunities to contribute in fulfilling our mission as a synagogue.

GENERAL DONATIONS
General donations honor our past with dignity through the preservation of our historic spaces including our main sanctuary and small synagogue, three historic cemeteries in Lower Manhattan and our active cemetery in Cyprus Hills, Queens. These donations ensure a strong future through engaging educational programs with rigorous ritual and liturgical training for youth including PTTS, our Toddler Programs, Junior Congregation, and special opportunities for girls. And perhaps most importantly, general donations uphold and celebrate our minhag and liturgical traditions through dedicated clergy members, our sublime choir, Shabbat, and holiday services.

KIDDUSH FUND
The congregational Kiddush is an opportunity for congregants and visitors to socialize and mingle after services, humbly serving an important congregational function. Sponsoring a kiddush is a beautiful way to pay tribute to a loved one, celebrate a birthday, anniversary, graduation, a personal accomplishment, or a ritual honor. It is also a great way to foster community—facilitating fellow congregants to catch up with friends, meet new members and guests, and greet synagogue leaders.

RABBI’S DISCRETIONARY FUND
The Rabbi’s Discretionary Fund is a charitable arm of our congregation. These funds are designated by our rabbis for members in need and communities in crisis. This past year, our funds have assisted a number of members as well as communities in Nepal recovering from the earthquake, and the Houston Jewish Community recovering from flooding.

CLASS AND EVENT SPONSORSHIPS
Help us strengthen educational initiatives at Shearith Israel by supporting a warm and inviting atmosphere to learn, debate, and grow together as a community. Sponsor food and refreshments for a class or semester of Bet Midrash, Tuesday morning women’s class, Tuesday evening Talmud Shiur, Hebrew courses, Learners’ Service, or Shabbat afternoon class. Or, contribute to sponsor an event, such as academic symposiums, lectures, and discussions with Jewish scholars from around the world and maintain our synagogue as a leader in contemporary Jewish dialogue.

CARING CONNECTION
Financial contributions support efforts in proactively providing organized assistance to members of our community through times of need, one of Judaism’s greatest Mitzvot. Caring Connection raises the funds needed to defray the costs of all it does. Not only does this vital assistance greatly aid the individual, it also strengthens and unifies our community and enhances our sense of responsibility for one another.

VOLUNTEER YOUR TIME AND TALENT
Shearith Israel belongs to its devoted members and our vitality depends on our participation and involvement. Our most successful programs and activities are those that are organized with the help of capable volunteers who bring creativity, good cheer and friends. We have a variety of committees and societies, such as our Sisterhood and Young Leadership for you to contribute ideas and energy. We also benefit from the talents and expertise of lay leaders who can help us in important projects such as historic cemetery restoration, archival upgrades, real estate projects and facilities needs, and so much more. And of course, at our core, we are a caring community and that means that providing emotional and logistical support to members in times of need cannot depend on our clergy alone but requires the care and involvement of many whether through our Caring Connection hesed committee or our Hebra. Getting involved is how you make it happen and how you forge meaningful connections at your synagogue.
